How to use this book

Using the index, locate yourself in the body of the text.

Suppose you find there that your code number is CP1234567. This means that you are the seventh child of the person numbered CP123456. He, in turn, is the sixth child of CP12345 — and so forth. To find the antecedent in each instance, drop the final number from the code and look for the person on a preceding page who bears the shortened number. In this manner, work back to the original progenitor.

INTRODUCTION

Sometime toward the end of his career, John Conrad Weiser (1696-1760), Pennsylvania's famed Indian diplomat, set his memories on paper for his children. He recorded what he knew of his German forebears and appended a list of his own children to the account. At least one grandson, a namesake who died at Selinsgrove, Pa., in 1803, followed his grandsire's custom in preparing an autobiographical and genealogical record. A copy of this unique document was made by one of his sons, John Frederick Weiser (1775-1840), who died at Delaware, Ohio — and Johan Friedrich Weisers Buch, a folio in carefully written German script owned by the John Conrad Weiser Family Association, is properly speaking the first genealogy of the Weiser clan, covering, as it does, seven generations of the family! Other interest in the Weisers in the nineteenth century was demonstrated by the Rev. Reuben B. Weiser (1807-1885), who wrote a longhand account, erratic in its facts; and by the Rev. Clement Z. Weiser (1830-1898), in his Life of (John) Conrad Weiser (Reading, Pa., 1876), who included a summary of Weiser's "posterity" in a chapter of his volume.

Around the year 1900, serious interest in the genealogy of Conrad Weiser's descendants was manifest on several fronts. The first issue of The Pennsylvania German, published at Lebanon, Pa., in January, 1900, included an article on Conrad Weiser as first in a series of "Famous Pennsylvania Germans." The article closed with a summary of Weiser family history prepared by H. M. M. Richards, of whom more later. Simultaneously, Mrs. K. T. Anderson, of Rock Island, Illinois, in an attempt to prove lineage for membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution, corresponded with many of the family, gathering data through their responses. Her files have been used in the present work. Shortly after 1900, descendants of another Frederick Weiser (1776-1855) of Delaware, Ohio, began to meet in annual reunion. An attempt to keep a record of Weisers — both those known to be related to the group and others — resulted in a collection of papers of data which have been placed in the hands of the Weiser Association.

A full-dress genealogy of the Weiser family, by H. M. M. Richards, a descendant, was published by the Pennsylvania German Society in 1924, and echoed in a chapter in P. C. Croll's Conrad Weiser and His Memorial Park (Reading, Pa., 1926). Richards obtained his data chiefly from two types of sources: 1) Local genealogical material, tombstones, and church registers; 2) Chance contacts with descendants of those who had left the Berks County region. Though his work contains errors — as does doubtless the present one — Richards' book was a basic step in the compilation of a history of the Weiser family. Richards' work lacked systematic use of court records for Berks and other counties and almost completely lacked survey of genealogical source material from counties other than Berks. Naturally, many kin whose families resided west of Pennsylvania were overlooked in his presentation. Finally, since he had already (in 1900) published a genealogy of the Muhlenberg descendants of Weiser, he omitted them from the 1924 edition.

Richards continued to receive correspondence from Weisers who knew his book for many years. Mrs. Mary Owen Steinmetz, professional genealogist of Reading, Pa., handled several cases for Weiser descendants, charging car fare to Womelsdorf and a dollar for her trouble! Mrs. Ida Krick, of Reading, another descendant, made some researches and notations for her own concerns. Mrs. J. W. Jones, of "The Briers," Olney, Maryland, also a descendant, compiled voluminous notebooks of Weiser lore. Mrs. Effie Deppen Prather, of Urbana, Illinois, spent summers in genealogical safari in Ohio and Pennsylvania. Others poked around into the subject, with mixtures of pride, curiosity and — in a combination of these attributes — necessity, in order to join patriotic societies.

From all of these efforts, the present attempt at Weiser Family History has benefitted. The exact circumstances dictating the study which culminates in this publication might be called "practical" — for when The John Conrad Weiser Family Association adopted its constitution in 1957, a provision was included that only descendants, bona fide, would be considered as members of the association. Even before this resolution was adopted, it had become evident that there are Weisers galore in America who are not of the freundschaft of Conrad Weiser, the elder. To determine who was a member of the Association — and who was not — the compilation, and eventual publication, of a genealogy was included in the purposes of the Weiser Association. And in the realization that the process of compilation could go on indefinitely, the convenient date of the Weiser anniversaries of 1960 was selected as a deadline for the publication.

It is, therefore, with a sense of only partially completed endeavor, that the final editing is done to this manuscript. There are numerable areas in which our work is deficient: 1) Not all the Weisers who left Pennsylvania for the West have been located in their new home. There are, in other words, many chances for new data to be discovered and added for members of the family whom the compilers could not find. 2) Not all the descendants of female lines have been pursued with as much zeal as have those in which the name persisted. Time's limitations, coupled with the indifference of persons who never heard the name Weiser or knew of descent from the family, have contributed to this failure. 3) Other Weiser/Wiser/Wysor families in Pennsylvania and elsewhere have plagued our efforts as we tried to force them to a limb of The Conrad Weiser trunk and found that they did not belong. We regret that more systematic data than our chapter on them contains could not be obtained.

Lest the reader feel he employs an unqualified effort, let it be said that the compliers have attempted a thorough survey of both genealogical source material and court records in every county of Pennsylvania — and one in Ohio — in which Weisers have been known to live. Careful — and painstaking — attempts to locate a descendant, in some instances resorting to classified advertisements in local newspapers, have been made with varying degrees of sucess. Hundreds of letters to nearly every state in the union; visits; telephone calls; treks to cemeteries of all sizes and condition — have all been a part of the background to his volume. Those responsible for this book — they have been a retired teacher and some housewives, a clergyman and a theological student, a farm bureau agent, a housing director on a huge state university campus, and a timekeeper in a factory! — feel that the point of diminishing return has been reached; that henceforth, incidental discovery will supplement the systematic attempts here made.

It should be stated that the editor welcomes such supplementary information, and any corrections which need to be made — not that a second edition is immediately envisioned, but that the Family Association, now founded and functioning, may continue to serve as clearinghouse for accurate data.

Some personal obligations of the editor cannot pass without acknowledgments. A succession of roommates endured the clutter of files and the clatter of typing, and one of them, the Rev. Laverne E. Stough, provided his cousin as the secretary for the entire project. To him and to her, Miss Hilda Bubb, a tremendous appreciation is due. Many kinfolk provided bed and board for the editor and whoever happened to be with him, but a maternal aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sheely, of Millersburg, Pennsylvania, saw service in this regard above and beyond the call of duty! My grandfather — Samuel Weiser, today a true patriarch of the family — provided whimsical encouragement with his regular queries, "Any new Weisers?" and my parents, Donald K. and Elizabeth S. Weiser — who long ago resigned themselves to spending as much time in cemeteries before death as after — have made much of this possible through their patience and generosity. To all who have aided, a sincere word of thanks.

THE JOHN CONRAD WEISER FAMILY

The orgins of the John Conrad Weiser family are difficult to discern. The precise home of the emigrant himself has been identified as Gross Aspach (a village located about thirty miles northeast of Stuttgart in Wurttemberg, Germany) both by the autobiography of his famous son Conrad (1) and by the surviving parochial records of the Lutheran church there. (2) The area was generally ravaged by the French in the seventeenth century, the town itself destroyed in 1693, which fact accounts in part for the difficulty in obtaining records of the early generations of the Weisers. The parochial register begun in 1598 was burned on that occasion and the new one, begun in 1693-1694, included information compiled by the pastor, Mag. Erhard Hagelein, from the memories of the townsfolk. Data on the Weiser family is scarce. John Conrad Weiser was likely at the time at Affstat serving as a member of the citizens' defense of Wurttemberg and his name does not appear in the parish records until 1699; thereafter until his departure for America, the record of him is complete.

From the available evidence, a German scholar has concluded:

> The Weiser family was a relatively well off and respected family of peasants, related to the best families in town, out of which the "tribunal" and the "senate" got its members, often allied by marriage with the Sturmfeder Schultheissen and appreciated to have not only the town pastor but also the high patron Freiherr von Sturmfeder as a godfather. It was a family which was not in want of forwards-striving, energetic, and strong personalities, who were entitled to a leading role. (3)

I. Jacob Weiser

The first Weiser (4) in the lineage of whom there is a definite record is Jacob Weiser, who bore the office of Schultheiss, or magistrate, at Gross Aspach. He is so identified in the parochial register entry concerning his son Hans Michael (of whom more later) and in the notice of his wife's death. (5) Conrad Weiser in his autobiography, states that this Jacob's father was also Schultheiss, but there is nothing in extent records to authenticate this. (6) It is also a supposition that the John Conrad Weiser who was Stadtschreiber (town clerk) of Backnang (and whose arms are used by the John Conrad Weiser Family Association) (7) was a brother of Jacob Weiser, although the evidence strongly supports such a belief. (8)

(4) Attempts to ascertain the meaning of the name Weiser lead to indefinite conclusions. It might be 1) the white one (der Weisse); 2) the wise one (der Weise); 3) one who does white washing, painting (der Weisser); 4) the one who shows or points the way; the supervisor (der Weiser). Spelling is not uniform in early records, but Weisser seems to be prevalent. There are Weiser/Weisser families in several sections of Germany, of Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Jewish origin.

Speculation sets the birth of Jacob Weiser about the year 1625 and assumes that he died prior to 1694, when the parish register was begun again. His wife was Anna, who died July 6, 1696, in Grossaspach, at the age of sixty-eight years. She was born, accordingly, about 1628. (9)

Two children are known to have been theirs: John Conrad Weiser, the emigrant, and Hans Michael Weiser. A synopsis of available data on Hans Michael Weiser follows.

Hans Michael Weiser was born 1657 and died August 5, 1721; he married first, 1680, Anna Maria, daughter of Ulrich Aichele. There were two children. His second wife was Maria Magdalena (1654 - April 26, 1733). They had six children. He was Schultheiss of Gross Aspach for many years.

They were adopted by the John Conrad Weiser Family Association in 1957. There is no particular significance to the symbolism on this arms. There are arms which have meaning in their symbols, but this is not the case with the swan, who seems to have been a common feature in the arms of Weisers. Perhaps, although it is far-fetched, the symbolism is that the swan is white, which may be the meaning of the name Weiser.

II. John Conrad Weiser (ca. 1660-1746)

John Conrad Weiser, the emigrant, is presumed to have been born about 1660, in Gross Aspach. He married first, Anna Magdalena Ubelen, daughter of Hans Ubelen. They were the parents of likely fifteen children, of whom thirteen are known by name. John Conrad, at the point he first enters written history, was a corporal (a non-commissioned officer) in the Wurttemberg Blue Dragoons, which office he must have held until about 1700, when he is first listed as a baker, the position he occupied until his removal to America in 1709. On May 1, 1709, Anna Magdalena died suddenly, due to an attack of gout while pregnant for the fifteenth time. John Conrad, perhaps dissatisfied with conditions at Gross Aspach, left the community soon thereafter, June 24, selling his property there to his eldest daughter, already married, and taking with him his other eight surviving children. They went to London, from which they embarked several months later for America. Their vessel, the Lyon, landed at New York on June 13, 1710.

There began a fascinating career for the German peasant, whose fifty years until then had been spent in hard work and fighting in the Wurttemberg countryside. Almost as soon as John Conrad was in company of his fellow Germans, he showed qualities of leadership. In New York, the several thousand Palatine immigrants were bound to produce tar from the pitch of pine trees at camps near the Hudson River, about 100 miles north of New York City. The settlers were divided into five villages, at first, and John Conrad was the headman of one. As such, he voiced the complaints of his fellowmen before the Governor, Robert Hunter, who was caught in an impossible situation: the trees could produce no tar, the overseer of the Palatines (Robert Livingstone) was a scoundrel; the Germans expected better conditions — food aplenty and land of their own.

A military campaign in 1711 provided the occasion for the climax of the difficulty. One of the captains of the Palatine contingent was John Conrad Weiser, and when the soldiers returned from a futile march into northern New York, only to discover their families nearly starved, Weiser led the Palatines in a complaint before the Governor. The incident ended when Hunter lost his temper, shouted at the Palatines, and ordered them disarmed, but in the year following he released them to go where they pleased. John Conrad Weiser was one of a number of men deputized by the Germans to seek land at Schoharie, about fifty miles west of Albany. After some time, the Germans were settled there in a collection of little "dorfs" or villages, of which one bore the name Weiserdorf (and is today known as Middleburgh). Conditions were poor, but hard work began to make a home of this wilderness. Since the Palatines were squatters before the law (even if they had made a purchase deal with the Indians), it was inevitable that there would be trouble. When the Governor sent an agent to make deeds for the Palatines, they so mistreated him out of suspicion that the government eventually granted the land to others, one of whom, Adam Vroman, arrived in 1715. Evidently the two Weisers (John Conrad Jr., having returned to his father's household after living with the Indians and learning their languages) made conditions so miserable for Vroman that he petitioned Governor Hunter for aid. A warrant was placed in the hands of the justices of the peace in Albany and Dutchess Counties for the senior Weiser's arrest, but he managed to escape the hands of the law.

Nearly crushed, the Palatines resolved to send Weiser and two others to London to appeal to King George I, a fellow German. This venture proved to be the most bizarre on which John Conrad embarked. Attacked and stripped by pirates enroute, the three men contracted so many debts in London that they were thrown into prison. One of them died there, another returned to New York, and John Conrad stayed behind, seeking in vain to establish the Palatines' rights. After five years, he returned to America, only to find that his colony was scattered.

The remaining years of life found him in several places, never settled down, always following some scheme. He tried to purchase lands on the Delaware, but ran afoul the Proprietors of Pennsylvania. Late in life, after many years of silence toward his family, John Conrad was discovered in upstate New York, not too far from old Livingstone Manor, his first home there. Conrad, his son, visited him, and later when conditions became dangerous, he sent two of his sons to bring him to Pennsylvania, in May 1746.

The old patriarch's last days were described by Henry Melchior Muhlenberg as follows:

> He was so worn out by his long journey that he was carried into my house almost dead. After he had lain in bed for 24 hours and had taken some nourishment, he came to himself again and began repeating in broken words the hymn: Schwing dich auf zu deinem Gott, &c . . . . His eyes were almost dark and his hearing gone, so that I could not converse with him. But I could not withhold my tears when I heard him repeating over and over the great texts relating to the blessed atonement in Christ, such as: Himself took our infirmities &c . . . to which he added companion texts, such as: Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden . . .
> My father-in-law meanwhile sent a wagon with a bed and had him brought fifty miles farther to his home, and when he had given us his blessing, had with great difficulty reached his destination, and had lived for a short space longer with his Joseph in Goshen, he fell asleep at last amid the heartfelt prayers and tears of the children and grandchildren who stood around him, after having been between eighty and ninety years on his pilgrimage.

He had married a second time, in the spring of 1711, to Anna Margaret Miller, and they had three children. Of her life, nothing is known.

There is a widespread belief that John Conrad Weiser is buried at Zion, or Reed's Cemetery, near Stouchsburg, Pa., but there is no reason to doubt that he might have been buried, instead, on the Weiser farm, now Weiser Park, at Womelsdorf. (11) concerning George Frederick Weiser and John Frederick Weiser. One of the sisters — either Magdalena, Sabina, or Barbara, or perhaps Rebecca, married a Mr. Picket, whose son Conrad Weiser, Jr., recommended for learning the Mohawk's language in 1750. This leaves on the male side only Jacob Weiser, a child of the second marriage, for whom we have no record. The complete silence attending him may indicate that he died in youth. (13)

III. John Conrad Weiser (1696-1760)

The eldest son of John Conrad and Anna Magdalena (Ubelen) Weiser was given his father's names at his birth, November 2, 1696, which by his own statement took place at Affstatt about twenty miles southeast of Stuttgart. He became known generally as Conrad Weiser. Although Conrad's statement exists that he was baptized at Kuppingen, a village nearby, there is no entry in its records of this fact. Perhaps this was an oversight of the pastor, an explanation especially conceivable when it is realized that there are gaps in the parochial registers. (14)

Conrad emigrated to America in 1710, with his father, and shortly thereafter was placed in the hands of the Mohawks. From them he acquired the knowledge of Indian words and ways which launched him on the career that has made his name known in the annals of Pennsylvania and national history of the colonial era. Because Conrad Weiser has been the subject of several full-length biographies, as well as of innumerable articles, no attempt will be made here to cover his career. On November 22, 1720, Conrad married Anna Eva Feck, daughter of Peter and Anna Maria ( ) Feck, whose name appears in the same community in Schoharie County that the Weisers inhabited and later as one of the earliest settlers in the Tulpehocken region of Pennsylvania, between May 13, 1723 and January 1, 1725. Feck seems to have been a younger brother of John Feck, another settler of the New York Community. John's home is listed in the Kocherthal records as Oberstein, Duchy Nassau - Siegen, but all attempts to locate this community were unsuccessful. Peter Feck wrote a will on 4 February 1741/42, which was probated 20 February 1748/49, in which he named his wife and family. In addition to his descendants, the family of his supposed nephew, Leonard Feck, lived in the Tulpehocken Valley.

Conrad Weiser died July 13, 1760, on his farm at Womelsdorf, where he is buried. His wife survived him until June 11, 1781, as is amply attested by several documents. One of them bears the notation:

> Anno 1781, on the 11th of June, early about 2 o'clock, did the wife and mother Anna Eva Weiser, widow, fall asleep at the home of her son Peter in Womelsdorf Town, and on the 12th of June buried by the old Church. (16)

Substantially the same is recorded by Muhlenberg, her son-in-law in his journals, but he adds, "she had lived seventy-six years and the last years she was in wretched circumstances, having lost her sight, suffered a stroke and become helpless. (17) Possibly she was reinterred at the farm graveyard, next to

CP. Philip Weiser (1722-1761)

Philip Weiser, eldest son of Conrad and Anna Eva (Feck) Weiser, was born September 7, 1722, at Schoharie, New York, and, as his father's autobiography states, baptized by the Rev. John Bernhard von Duehren, a Lutheran clergyman, with Philip Brown and wife as sponsors. Philip moved to Pennsylvania with his father and there was married on November 22, 1748 (his parents' wedding anniversary) to Sophia, daughter of Peter Riem, "in the old church," that is Reith's Church. (19) Nothing has been learned concerning Peter Riem.

Philip's life was overshadowed to a great extent by his father's. We see him entering the cloister at Ephrata, as Brother Theobald, with his father; collecting his father's debts; accompanying him on journeys; defending the home from Indian threat. He farmed on his father's land, although he held title to a lot in Reading (which had been patented to him July 11, 1752, and which he sold to Nicholas Godshall, a locksmith, on January 29, 1759) and to a 139-acre tract on the Swatara, which he purchased from Sheriff Thomas Lincoln on August 9, 1759. He was a member of the Lutheran Church, probably Christ Church, where his sons' baptisms are recorded, although he contributed to a schoolhouse for the Heidelberg congregation (St. Daniel's), and was buried at Rieth's Church. He served in the French and Indian War, in the company his father gathered when the Indian threat became apparent. He was later commissioned a "captain lieutenant" on July 3, 1756. (21)

Philip's death was premature, but his will dates from one year before he died. The will, originally written in German, follows:

Heidelberg in Berks Co.
The 25th March, 1760

In the Name of the Holy Trinity. Amen.

Whereas I Philip Weiser find myself, by God's will, visited with bodily Sickness and cannot be certain when it may please God to call me out of this world, I have then thought proper, whilst I am yet of sound mind and memory to cause my last will to be written in the following manner.

First, I devise unto my first born Son Conrad Weiser, an English Crown-Piece over and above what is hereinafter given unto him.

Secondly, I devise unto my faithful wife Sophia Weiser the third part of all my movables, now in Possession as hereafter to be expected. The other two-Third parts shall be divided in equal Shares between my three Sons, and any other child of mine which may hereafter come into the world. All the just debts having been first paid thereout.

Thirdly, respecting the Land I am seized or possessed of in my own Right, as also the Land and Land-Rights coming to me in virtue of my Father's Testament, it may fall when and where it will in this or another country, sooner or later, I will that my three Sons have equal right to the same, one as much as another, and shall not be sold to strangers before they have given unto each other the Preference of purchasing.

Fourthly - It is my will that my beloved wife Sophia Weiser shall have her widow's abode upon the Place where we live at present, here in Heidelberg. But if she think it fit to rent out her widow's Residence and to remove elsewhere, she shall have full Power and Right so to do and to receive the rent to her own Use and Benefit, as long as she remains a widow.

Fifthly, I nominate and appoint my beloved wife Sophia Weiser and my Uncle Christopher Weiser to be the Executors over all my Estate, whether it be moveable or immoveable. I also hereby direct both my said executors that if Jacob Groninger desire the deed for a Piece of Land lying in Heidelberg Township in Lancaster County, they shall give him the Deed without any Denial, I having had full satisfaction of him.

In confirmation thereof I have sealed and signed this my testament in the presence of the witnesses.

His widow and Adam Diefenbach were appointed guardians for the four children on August 13, 1762. (23) She died, according to her son's statement, on October 1, 1764, (24) and was likely buried with her husband at Rieth's Church, although there is no record so stating. Sometime after his death a large tombstome was erected over his grave with German inscription, still legible, on both sides:

> This is the resting place of the highly honored Philip Weiser. The same was born in the year 1722, the 17th September, and died Anno 1761, the 27th March, his age 38 years, 6 months, and 4 days, and lived in marriage twelve years and four month, and in such time he produced four children, three sons, and one little daughter, of whom the little daughter since died, and three sons are still alive. CP1. John Conrad Weiser

John Conrad Weiser, the eldest son of Philip and Sophia (Riem) Weiser, was born August 30, 1749, on the Weiser farm at Womelsdorf. His own autobiography, as well as the records of Christ Lutheran Church, contain the information. "1749 was I, Conrad, as the fourth generation of the first Weiser who came to America from Germany, born, namely on the 30th day of August Anno 1749 and baptized the tenth of September the same year. My sponsors were Herr Kurtz, formerly preacher in Tulpehocken and my grandmother, Eva Weiser, because my Grandfather John Conrad Weiser was not then at home, and at that time in Lancaster County," the autobiography begins. After an account of his father's family, he continues, "1770, the 25th of July, was I Conrad Weiser married to Barbara, nee Beyer, and married before the English preacher, Alexander Murry in Reading Town." (27)

Conrad, as he was known, inherited with his brothers the estate his father had received from their grandfather, which consisted of about 356 acres in Berks County in one tract, and another 139-acre tract on the Swatara Creek, which the three brothers jointly deeded to Baltzer Emrich on April 26, 1775.

(This is a copy in German of Conrad Weiser's autobiography, and of additional information on the family of Conrad Weiser (1749-1803), made by his son John Frederick. The original has not come to light.); cf. Christ Lutheran Church records, Stouchsburg, Pa.

The brother Peter willed his rights to the property to his brothers when he died in 1779, and Conrad and Jabetz evidently farmed the large tract jointly, without dividing it, for several years. An agreement, dated October 19, 1779, divides a woodlot, with the understanding that if the land be cleared, the remainder would be divided again. The brothers also agreed to share a spring on the property and to build a barn for Conrad, one half of which was Jabetz's responsibility, to be finished by June 1 of the following year. (28)

Conrad Weiser served in the American Revolution. He is listed, on May 17,1777, as Captain of the 4th Company, 6th Battalion of Berks County Militia. This record, and that of his cousin Conrad, both have been claimed for this man and a chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, has been named for him. Several descendants have joined patriotic societies on the basis of his service record. (29)

"1796 - the 18th of April I moved with my family from Berks County to Northumberland County. I still had at that time 8 children living," the autobiography states; but that he spent some time there previously is suggested by the information that his son Peter had died there the preceding autumn. Another son, Henry, died less than a week after the move to the new home. The land on which Conrad now settled was a portion of that received from the estate of his grandfather, divided among the children and grandchildren of Conrad Weiser on September 24, 1773, but evidently still untouched, save for squatters. Conrad and his wife had purchased a 50-acre tract in Berks County from John and Sophia Shaffer (was this their daughter and son-in-law?) on January 12, 1796, and they now sold it and Conrad's share of the 356-acre farm in Berks to John and Jacob Shaffer, brothers, who farmed it for some years. This sale necessitated a formal division of the patrimony, which was effected on June 20, 1797, between Conrad and Barbara on one hand and Jabetz and Mary Elizabeth Weiser on the other. The land was divided into two sections of 179 acres each, Conrad's share being in one piece; that of Jabetz in three. Simultaneously, the same day, the brothers executed a deed dividing the property in Northumberland County, a total of 789 acres. Jabetz's share was sold, July 4, 1797, to Charles Gemberling, who sold it the following day to Conrad, now in possession of the entire tract. (30)

In his new community, Conrad Weiser proved to be a leading figure until his premature death, February 1, 1803. He donated a one-acre tract for a schoolhouse in 1793. He laid out a community, Weiserburg, in which he sold the first lot in 1799. His attempt to found the village on his land eventually failed, because Selinsgrove overshadowed and engulfed it. He was a member of the Lutheran Church in the community. When Weiser died, he was still possessed of the bulk of the acreage he had inherited. (31)

His death may have been sudden, although there is not a definite record to indicate this. His wife, Barbara and son Benjamin, were granted letters of administration in his estate on February 21, 1803, and on March 4, 1803, they appeared before the Orphans Court of Northumberland County, requesting a partition of the estate, now divided among the heirs. A special act of the Assembly was required, March 15, 1804, to authorize the executors to sell property on the Isle of Que, for which the Weisers had no patent. (32)

Conrad Weiser was buried in the churchyard of Sharon Union Church, near the Bough Street pavement and to the rear of the present First Lutheran Church. His wife died December 15, 1825, and left a will, written August 20, 1819, which effected final distribution of this estate. (33) She was buried with her husband. Their graves are within a few feet of Governor Simon Snyder's.

CP11 Sophia Weiser (daughter of John Conrad and Barbara (Beyer) Weiser) was born on August 3, 1771, near Womelsdorf, Pa. She married John Shover, according to her father's intestate record, but his name is cited in her mother's will as Fred Shover or Shaffer and in C. Z. Weiser's writings as Schawber. Because of the uncertainty about her name and her husband's, it has been impossible to learn more about her. (1)

CP12 Benjamin Weiser (son of John Conrad and Barbara (Beyer) Weiser) was born about 1773 near Womelsdorf, Pa. As eldest son, he petitioned for the settlement of his father's estate in 1803 and participated in making deeds in its consummation as late as 1811. He was dead by the time his mother wrote her will (1819), and it is possible that he is the Benjamin Wiser whose estate was probated in Franklin County, letters of administration granted February 26, 1816, to Christian Etter, though there is nothing to authenticate this belief. His wife's name is not recorded with his in available documents and their actual whereabouts are unknown. His children's names are listed in his mother's will; of them too nothing more is known.

He married Mary Worline (July 25, 1780 - September 14, 1868, Delaware, Ohio) and moved from Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, to Pickaway County, Ohio, in 1806, from there to Delaware County in 1816 or 1817. He took land there in 1823 some of which is in the hands of descendants today. On November 29, 1823, he purchased 100 acres from Moses Bixby of which he sold the south 50 to his son Peter on February 2, 1832. On October 17, 1843, there was a further transaction between the four CP15 Maria Barbara Weiser (daughter of John Conrad and Barbara (Beyer) Weiser) was born July 21, 1784, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, and died in 1828 in Penns Township, near Selinsgrove, now Snyder County, Pennsylvania. She married first, George Holstein (February 2, 1766 - March 26, 1811, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania), and second John Frederick Bergstresser (son of Philip and Helena (Heller) Bergstresser) (December 22, 1785, Hamilton Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania - 1834, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania.) He was a farmer and cooper. Holstein's will was written March 25, 1811, and probated April 16. He names his wife and indicates he had minor children. Bergstresser appeared before the Orphans' Court of Union County on September 1828, stating that his wife had recently died and naming his two children as her survivors. Following Bergstresser's death, Peter Wareheim petitioned the Orphans' Court to settle the estate of Mary Holstein Bergstresser and named as her survivors her six children. Property she held on the Isle of Que was accordingly disposed of.

CP2. Peter Weiser

Peter Weiser, son of Philip and Sophia (Riem) Weiser, was born April 26, 1751, on the Weiser farm at Womelsdorf, and died at his brother Conrad Weiser's farm, September 4, 1779. (1) He likely was buried at Reith's Cemetery. Peter must have led an adventurous life, according to scattered references we have to him. He served in the American Revolution, wherein he was wounded and, as a result of which, he died. His career there might be traced as follows:

He was appointed third lieutenant of Captain George Nagle's company of Col. William Thompson's battalion of riflemen on January 5, 1776; then as second lieutenant in the First Pennsylvania Regiment in July when Thompson's battalion was reorganized. Prior to the battle of Long Island, in which his unit served, he wrote a will (August 12, 1776). He was commissioned as a first lieutenant on January 16, 1777, and was wounded in the battle of Brandywine Creek, September 11, 1777, and paroled September 25. He was kept at the house of one Adolph Gilman, on Market Street, in Philadelphia, for several months, and on November 16, he added a codicil to his will in which he directed his executors to pay Gilman such sums as were due him. (2)

His story at this point is summarized in references in the diaries of his uncle, Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, who must have been attracted by the youthful officer. In March, 1777, Peter had visited the Muhlenbergs, and then the uncle remarked, "He has tried many things and has had many experiences." In April 1778, Peter was brought to the Muhlenbergs:

> "April 7, 1778. Peter Weiser, a wounded officer of the American army, was brought to our house in order that he might be taken from here to his relatives in Tolpehaken. I therefore wrote a letter to his brother Conrad Weiser in Tolpehaken telling him to come and fetch him as soon as possible . . . The wounded lieutenant was hit by a musket ball in the battle at Brandtewein Creek. It entered the right side of his chest, pierced the right lung, and came out lower down on the left side . . . He has been staying in the city for the last six months as a prisoner and has had the services of German and English army chirugeons at his own expense. They succeeded, however, in healing up only the opening on the left side, and the right side still runs constantly with matter. Owing to the journey from the city here, the opening closed and this brought on fever and caused him anxiety until the flux broke out again. I spoke with him concerning his spiritual condition and also prayed with him. He was released on parole by His Excellancy General Howe, but is not likely to live long." (3)

On April 10, Muhlenberg recorded that Conrad Weiser arrived with a cart and horses to take his brother home, and "the sick man set out from here in the afternoon very wretched and weak." 4() He lingered until September 4, 1779, at the home of his brother. (5) The story of Peter must have thrilled subsequent generations of Conrad's family, who preserved the tradition that he had not realized he was wounded until his boot filled with blood. (6)

Conrad himself wrote of his brother in his autobiography in a poigant manner:

> He was, in the last American war, as the Revolution arose, wounded on the banks of the Brandewein, the 11th of September 1777, died September 4th, 1779, and served as Lieutenant. He was the first who, as the war was going on, stepped out, and his life was risked for the American so-called freedom. He first went to Boston as Sergeant. (7)

The will which he wrote was not probated until February 23, 1785, and it empowered his brothers to pay one hundred pounds of Pennsylvania money to his nephew Benjamin Weiser, Conrad's eldest son, and to dispose of his paternal inheritance. He instructed them to pay five pounds to each of the "child or children of whom I am called the father," (8) but no record of his marriage has been discovered. In November 1774, Peter Weiser was tried and convicted of fornication and bastardy with one Margaret Kessler of Northumberland County. His reference to a child is no doubt this one. Of the child, nothing is known. (9)

CP3. Jabetz Weiser

Jabetz Weiser, son of Philip and Sophia (Riem) Weiser, was born July 3, 1753, on the Weiser farm near Womelsdorf, and died in Womelsdorf, on May 16, 1829. He is buried in Zion Cemetery, Womelsdorf, near the site of the old church. He married Mary Elizabeth Wenger (September 18, 1754, Jabetz took the oath of allegiance to the United States, June 22, 1778, and served as a private from 1777 to 1780 in Captain Daniel Womelsdorf's company, Berks County militia. Several of his descendants have joined patriotic societies on this record. (11)

He divided his inheritance with his brother John Conrad Weiser, which left him a farm of 179 acres, just south of Womelsdorf. One of the buildings there bore his name as recently as 1923. (12) On three occasions, in 1818 and 1823, he and his wife sold small sections of this farm, and in later years they retired to the town of Womelsdorf. (13)

Due to the fact that Jabetz's will was somewhat irregularly written, and that one of his grandsons entered a caveat against its probation, an extensive deposition describing his condition at the time of his death was made by Evan McConnell, a relative and neighbor, who had written the will October 28, 1828, as Jabetz dictated in German. McConnell said that he had been called to Jabetz's house to write the will by George Eichelberner, in the presence of Eichelberner, his wife, and Mrs. Mengel, both daughters of Jabetz. He further related that Jabetz lived in Womelsdorf, no longer tending to his farm; that he kept to his bed sometimes, but sometimes was up; that he had a wound in his side. Eichelberner attended to Jabetz's business, since he was sick, blind, and somewhat hard of hearing. "I think he was possessed of his right mind at the time he made his will," McConnell concluded. "I lived nearly opposite across the street. Jabetz Weiser was called my uncle, and was related to my mother . . . The old man said nothing against Philip's children," (who had entered the caveat, because they were not given an equal share in the estate). (14)

The plea of those grandchildren was not accepted, and Eichelberner and Henry Lewars (another son-in-law) were named executors, since the will had designated none. The estate lingered after the property was sold and Joel B. Warner, an attorney, was appointed executor on April 27, 1855, to close the CP31 John Philip Weiser (son of Jabetz and Mary Elizabeth (Wenger) Weiser) was born September 3, 1776, near Womelsdorf, and baptized at Christ Church on October 20, with Lazarus Wenger and his wife serving as his sponsors. Nothing is known of the life of Philip Weiser, except that he married February 11, 1800, Molly Huber (at least, that is the assumption: the birth records of three children consistently refer to her as Magdalena, as does the obituary notice for her). He died March 25, 1827, and was buried three days later by the pastor of Christ Church, probably at Womelsdorf. His wife was buried May 20, 1827, aged 47 years and a few months; accordingly she was born in 1780. The names of three of their children are recorded with baptismal records and a fourth one assumed to be theirs from circumstantial evidence in the records of Zion Lutheran Church, Womelsdorf. Letters of administration in his estate were granted on March 31, 1827, to "friends" Peter Eckert and George Miller, the widow having renounced.

CP32 John Weiser (son of Jabetz and Mary Elizabeth (Wenger) Weiser) was born November 30, 1779, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, and baptized at Christ Church December 26, 1779, with John and Anne Emilie Weiser serving as sponsors. December 9, 1800, he married Catharine Fengel. John served in the War of 1812, very likely in the 4th Company of the 66th Regiment of drafted men in the Pennsylvania militia, from the borough of Harrisburg, on whose roles in 1814 a John Weiser, aged 37, appears. From the baptismal record of a daughter, we know John was in Harrisburg about this time and the age cited, while not exactly correct, is close enough to make him the likely holder of this record. Traditionally, he was brought home ill from this war. He seems to have made his home at Womelsdorf prior to the War of 1812, lived in Harrisburg at the time of the war, and returned to Womelsdorf following it. On July 10, 1817, we find him selling what appears to be his entire household equipment and farming tools, as well as animals and crops (including "all the summer grain on the ground of the plantation") which would seem to indicate departure from the community. His destiny is unknown; no estate record has yet been found for him; he died May 29, 1824, according to the date in his daughter's family Bible. His widow moved with some of the children to Delaware County, Ohio, where she died May 30, 1850. (22)

CM. Anna Maria Weiser (1727-1802)

Anna Maria Weiser, daughter of Conrad and Anna Eva (Feck) Weiser, was born June 24, 1727, at Schoharie, New York, and was baptized by the Rev. William Christopher Berkenmeyer, a Lutheran clergyman. Coming to Pennsylvania with her parents as a child, she married the Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, Lutheran pastor to three congregations in and near Philadelphia on April 22, 1745, at Christ Lutheran Church, Stouchsburg, Pennsylvania. Muhlenberg was born September 6, 1711, at Eimbeck, Hanover, Germany, son of Nicholous Melchior Muhlenberg (d. 1723) and Anna Maria Kleinschmid (d. 1747). Muhlenberg graduated from the University of Gottingen in 1738, and served as a teacher and pastor in Germany before he was called to America in 1742. His activities concerning the affairs of the Lutheran congregations in the New World gradually extended until he helped to organize the first Lutheran synod in America, the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and Adjacent States, in 1748. This and other activities among colonial Lutherans have earned for Muhlenberg the epithet, "Patriarch of American Lutheranism," and have kept his name and spirit alive among his ecclesiastical descendants. Muhlenberg College and Muhlenberg Medical Center, in Allentown, Pennsylvania, the Muhlenberg Building (offices of Lutheran agencies in Philadelphia), the Muhlenberg Mission in Liberia are a few examples of the position he occupies in the tradition of American Lutheranism. Since he has been accorded scholarly study and since his own extensive writings are now available in English, the reader is referred to them:

CM1. John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg (1746-1807)

John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg (son of the Rev. Henry Melchior and Anna Maria (Weiser) Muhlenberg) was born October 1, 1746, at Trappe, Pennsylvania, and died October 1, 1807, near Philadelphia, Pa. He married November 6, 1770, Anna Barbara Meyer (1751 - October 27, 1806). They are buried at Trappe, Pennsylvania. Peter Muhlenberg was a Lutheran pastor in Virginia until the outbreak of the American Revolution, when he became colonel of a Virginia regiment. His service culminated in his appointment to the rank of Major General. He entered Pennsylvania politics and served in the cabinet of the state, in the United States House of Representatives and Senate, and finally as collector of the port of Philadelphia. Gotthief Henry Ernestus Muhlenberg, son of the Rev. Henry Melchior and Anna Maria (Weiser) Muhlenberg, was born November 17, 1753, at Trappe, Pennsylvania, and died May 23, 1815, at Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He married July 26, 1774, Mary Catharine Hall (December 26, 1756 - May 1, 1841, Lancaster, Pa.) They are buried at Lancaster. Of the three Muhlenberg sons to enter the Lutheran ministry, Henry E. was the only who remained therein, serving as Pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity, Lancaster, from 1780 to 1815. His activities included studies in botany, which earned him the nickname, "The American Linneaeus." He was first President of Franklin College, Lancaster, and helped in the publication of the first German-English dictionary published in America. (1)

CF. Frederick Weiser (1728-1773)

Frederick Weiser, second son of Conrad and Anna Eva (Feck) Weiser, was born December 24, 1728, at Schoharie, New York, and according to his father's autobiography, "was baptized by John Bernhart von Duehren, Lutheran clergyman; his sponsors were Niklas Feg and wife." (1) He was a babe in arms, a few months of age, when his parents migrated to Pennsylvania in 1729. As one biographer put it, "Can we picture the Weisers, with Frederick only a few months old, picking their way on horseback over windfalls and through streams, Ann Eve perhaps carrying the baby strapped to an Indian cradle-board on her back?" (2) According to the records of Christ Lutheran Church, on December 3, 1751, Frederick married Amelia Zoeller, orphan daughter of John Zeller. (3)

Frederick accompanied his father as far as Sunbury (then Shamokin) on the first stage of his journey to Onadaga in 1745, taking the horses back to Tulpehocken, (4) and again in 1753 went there with his brother Sammy to ascertain any traces of French influences. (5) In October, 1755, following a massacre of settlers along Penn's Creek, Frederick and Peter brought their cousins, the Reeds, from along the Susquehanna River near present-day Port Trevorton to the home at Tulpehocken; (6) and in November he is listed

Anna Amelia Zeller was the daughter of John Zeller (1686, France - 1737) and Catharine (——) Zeller. With his brother John Henry Zeller (1684 -), and his mother, he arrived in New York on June 14, 1710, where they resided until 1713, taking residence at Schoharie until 1723, when they all moved to Tulpehocken. His will is dated September 3, 1737, and was probated September 12, 1737 (Philadelphia County wills, F-59-55). He was a son of Jacques Zeller (Sellaire) (c. 1660 - 1709) of Strasbourg and Clothilde de Valois Zeller. Jacques was the son of Hans Rudolph Zeller (1637 - 1693), court preacher at Zveilbrucken, and grandson of Hans Heinrich Zeller (1609 - 1672), professor of sacred theology at the University of Zurich. Clothilde de Valois was born in France about 1660, and buried at Christ Lutheran Church, Stouchsburg, January 14, 1749. She was a member of the House of Valois, which ruled France from 1328 to 1589. Her other son John's son Henry is believed to have erected "Fort Zeller" in 1745. as one of the party defending the frontier along the Blue Mountain near Dietrich Six's, (7) according to the disposition of Jacob Morgan, Frederick having scalped the Indian casualties. (8)

Henry Melchior Muhlenberg commented in his journals, June 24, 1763, that Frederick "had returned two days previously from the Indian frontier, where he had gone to bring back his cattle which had been sent to graze on his late father's land," and went on to describe the Indian menace. (9)

Research has failed to reveal his name on any military roster of the period — as we find those of his brothers Philip and Samuel — but on the boundaries of one of the land warrants to Arthur Auchmuty, adjoining Weiser land on the Susquehanna River, Frederick is mentioned with the title "Captain." This is after his death. (10)

In August 1769, he represented the Weiser family at the Conference at Fort Augusta, Sunbury, the occasion being condolances from the Penns to Seneca George on the murder of young Seneca George. Frederick spoke on behalf of one of his cousins who, then in jail, was accused of the murder. (11)

Upon the death of his eldest brother Philip, and actually long before that, Frederick farmed the homestead. He was active in local affairs. In the 1760's he contributed to St. Daniel's Lutheran Church; in 1757, he received, as a trustee, the land for the congregation. He is also listed as its deacon. (12) He was a County Commissioner of Berks between 1763 and 1766. He was one of the viewers appointed in 1768 to survey the Tulpehocken Path between Reading and Fort Augusta. (13)

Frederick Weiser died November 15, 1773, (14) and was likely buried on the family graveyard, as he requested in his lengthy will. (15) In September, Henry Melchior Muhlenberg was in Reading, concerning the disposition of the inheritance from Conrad Weiser, and he mentioned that his brother-in-law was very sick, with dropsy, and suggested that death was expected. During the visit Muhlenberg "had several heart-to-heart talks" with Frederick. (16)

His wife continued to live on the homestead until 1791 when their eldest son Conrad sold it and moved to Northumberland County. She seems to have spent time with various children, but on December 17, 1801, letters in her estate were granted to Daniel Levan, a friend. The place of her burial is unknown. (17)

John Conrad Weiser, eldest son of Frederick and Anna Amelia (Zeller) Weiser, was born April 16, 1753, on the Weiser estate at Womelsdorf. He was baptized April 23, with Peter Weiser and Conrad Weiser's wife (his grandmother) serving as sponsors. (19) On November 12, 1775, he was married to Elizabeth Klinger by his uncle Benjamin Weiser. (20) She was born on March 10, 1756, in Reading, Pennsylvania.

He was the companion of Frederick A. C. Muhlenberg on his journey to the forks of the Susquehanna River, June 25 - July 2, 1771. (21) Likely he Elizabeth Klinger was the daughter of John Philip Klinger (July 11, 1723, Paffenburfurth, parish Reichelsheim, Odenwald, Germany, - Sept. 30, 1811, bu. at Klinger's Church). He migrated to America on the Albany, September 2, 1747 (Strassburger-Hinke, op cit., I, 395). His first wife was Eve Elizabeth , and his second Anna Eve . His children were:

1. Elizabeth, March 10, 1756, m. John Conrad Weiser
2. Christina, May 10, 1760:
3. George, May 13, 1761, m. Elizabeth Brosius.
4. Christina, June 30, 1764.
5. John Philip, Dec. 11, 1765, m. Anna Maria Snyder.
6. Alexander, Feb. 16, 1767 - Apr. 16, 1839, m. Magdalena Haag (1770-1846).
7. Peter, Nov. 3, 1773 - Aug. 10, 1858, m. Catharine Steinbruck (1774-1845).

The ancestors of John Philip Klinger (1723-1811) were:

parents - Johannes Klinges (Nov. 18, 1694) m. Nov. 6, 1720, Agatha Heusten (Aug. 4, 1699 - Apr. 10, 1780).

grandparents - Johan Georg Klinger (May 5, 1655 - Mar. 25, 1694) m. May 5, 1680, Anna Elizabeth Gottman (1663 - Apr. 3, 1743).

great-grandparents - Georg Klinger (1610; burgomeister of Paffinburfurth, owner of a grist mill), m. Christina (1614 - Oct. 31, 1695). (See Egle's Notes and Queries AV, 1896, p. 221; 1899, p. 53; register of the Lutheran parish of Reichelsheim, Odenwald. Tombstones at Klinger's Church.)

served in the American Revolution, although descendants of his cousin Conrad (1749-1803), of Selinsgrove, have claimed the service records. Likely, he was the First Lieutenant in Captain Michael Wolf's Company, 1776-1780. (22)

He farmed the Weiser homestead until it was sold in 1791. This is evident from the account book of the farm, which contains records compiled by Conrad, his father Frederick and grandfather Conrad. Then he settled on land owned by his father-in-law, John Philip Klinger, who held four contiguous tracts, warranted to him 1771-1786, patented 1793-1796, for over 1,100 acres, along the Pine Creek to the south of the gap in Mahantango Mountain at Spread Eagle ("dopplete adler"), present-day Klingerstown. He lived in Mahanoy Township, Northumberland County, Pa. Conrad died September 10, 1804, and is buried at Klinger's Church. His wife survived until March 12, 1820. Letters of administration in his estate were issued March 26, 1805, to his eldest son Frederick; his wife left a will dated March 2, 1820. (23)

CF11 Frederick Weiser (son of John Conrad and Elizabeth (Klinger) Weiser) was born near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, October 19, 1776, and baptized the next day at Christ Church, with Anna Amelia Weiser, his grandmother serving as sponsor. On May 10, 1800, Frederick married Maria Catharine Heim, a daughter of John Heim. She was born July 3, 1780, and died near Delaware, Ohio, on August 30, 1861. Frederick lived in Augusta Township, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, until 1814 when he migrated to Delaware County, Ohio, settling south of the city of Delaware on a farm held by his descendants until 1917. Here Frederick Weiser died May 5, 1855. He and his wife, and several children, were buried in the cemetery at Delaware, which was subsequently removed to the Oak Grove Cemetery, Delaware. Frederick was a member of the Lutheran Church. He appears to have been the first member of the Weiser family to settle at Delaware.

CF12 Catharine Weiser (daughter of John Conrad and Elizabeth (Klinger) Weiser) was born September 8, 1778, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, and died August 5, 1825, probably in Mahanoy Township, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania. She never married, but remained with her mother, caring for her in later years. Jacob Weiser, a brother, wrote the news of Catharine's passing to his brother Frederick, as follows, "With a sad heart, I have to let you know that our sister Cadarina died on Friday the fifth of August in the afternoon a little after half past two. We buried her on Sunday the seventh. She was unhealthy since last spring and she was very thin. She stayed in bed ill for a week. She didn't cry from pain. Most of the time she seemed to be sleeping. She had hardly eaten anything in those days and looked like she would die." She was buried at Klingers Church with her parents. (1)

CF13 Hannah Weiser (daughter of John Conrad and Elizabeth (Klinger) Weiser) was born December 22, 1782, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, and baptized two days later, with Hannah Weiser, her aunt, sponsoring her. CF15 Jacob Weiser (son of John Conrad and Elizabeth (Klinger) Weiser) was born December 21, 1784, near Womelsdorf, Pa. He married 1) Margareta Hofman (February 18, 1781 - January 21, 1838, Jackson Township, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania; 2) Susanna (Bordner) (April 4, 1819 - April 21, 1841); 3) Elizabeth (Deibler) (July 16, 1810 - May 9, 1889, Pillow, Pennsylvania). Jacob was a farmer in Lower Mahonoy Township, Northumberland County, Pa., near the present village of Pillow, in which he also owned some property. For some years, he kept a correspondence with his brother, Frederick Weiser, in Delaware County, Ohio, and the letters have largely been preserved. They concern family matters, the settlement of their parents' estate, weather, crops, politics, and local news and gossip. The letters have value for relating news of deaths in the family. Following his first wife's death, Jacob wrote as follows: "My wife was ill for more than one year and at times she had great pain. She could take care of herself, but she had to stay in bed three weeks and on Sunday, the twenty-first, at 2 o'clock it was God's will to save her from her pains, and on Tuesday, the twenty-third, her funeral was held and there was together a great assembly of people, as many as had never been at such an occasion. . . . She said all the time that she didn't want to become healthy again. I had asked her before if she didn't want to stay alive; then she said she didn't want to because she already had to suffer so much and death would not be given to her. Then I had to cry and I went away from the bed and she called me back and said that I shouldn't cry for her any longer . . . When she was in strong pain, some prayed and she gasped, and there all her pain was gone and it was calm. I didn't know anything to write at this time. The time will soon come that we have to share the same and so we have to prepare our house in time so that we are justified when the clock strikes 12. As much from your brother Jacob Weiser."

When Jacob died, December 19, 1846, his brother Philip wrote the news to Frederick in these words, "Our brother Jacob is no longer in the land of the living. He is dead and buried. His illness was long worms and he became thinner and thinner. He lived longer than somebody would have believed who saw him. A year ago, all his doctors said he has only up to spring to live . . .I am hoping that his misery is gone now. I believe that he died good as a Christian. When I saw him the last time, he said he would be ready to die. He had his senses up to the last minute . . . How long will it be until there will not be any of us I was very astonished when, at the funeral, I saw only a few of the old timers that I knew and if you ask where they are, the answer is they died. One after another goes, and after a few years, the world will hardly know that we have been here."

Jacob was buried in Pillow, Pa.

CF16 John Philip Weiser (son of John Conrad and Elizabeth (Klinger) Weiser) was born May 13, 1787, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, and baptized at Christ Church, May 18, 1787, with Philip and Anna Eve Klinger, his grandparents, serving as sponsors. He married October 27, 1811, Catherine Malick (daughter of David and Mary (Conrad) Malick (1)) born August 24, 1788, Augusta Township, died March 31, 1852, Plum Creek, near Sunbury, Pennsylvania. Philip, as he was known, was a farmer and extensive landholder in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, deeding a farm to each of his children in his will. He served as a Northumberland County Commissioner, 1841-1844, and donated a tract of land for the Eden ("Plum Creek") Lutheran Church, in 1844, where he and his family are buried. He died November 16, 1863, at his farm along Plum Creek. His obituary described him as a man of sterling honesty, distinguished for his industry. (2)

(1) David Malick (November 16, 1756, probably in Sussex County, near present Philipsburg, N.J., - October 24, 1834, Augusta Township, Northumberland County, Pa.) was a son of Peter Malick (August 29, 1719, Bendorf-on-the-Rhine, Germany - between March and June, 1789, along Fishing Creek, near Espy, Pa.) and wife Anna Maria Faber, married May 23, 1749 (cf. Williams T. Blair, The Michael Shoemaker Book (Scranton: 1924), p. 907). Peter was a member of the Committee of Safety, Wyoming Township, Northumberland County, 1776 - 1777. He was the son of Hans Peter Moelich, who emigrated from Germany to America in 1728. (Hans Peter was born September 9, 1683, Winningen-on-the-Mosel, and died in America. For earlier generations of this family, see Andrew D. Mellick, Jr., The Story of an Old Farm (Somerville, N.J.: 1889), first edition only containing genealogical data. Mary Conrad, wife of David Malick, was the daughter of Jacob Conrad (ca. 1745 Berks County - 1812, Sunbury, Pa.).

CF2. Anna Eva Weiser (1755 -)

Anna Eva Weiser (daughter of Frederick and Amelia (Zeller) Weiser) was born July 5, 1755, near Womelsdorf, Pa. She married 1) January 31, 1774, at St. James Episcopal Church, Lancaster, Pa., Daniel Womelsdorf (who died in May 1793, in East Pennsborough Township, Cumberland County, Pa.) After his death, she married a Collins. They were residents of the Womelsdorf vicinity until 1792, when with her brother John Weiser they purchased a tract in East Pennsborough, which was bordered in part by the Susquehanna River and the Connedoguinnet Creek. This was sold to Abraham Neidig in 1802. The last days of Eva Weiser Womelsdorf Collins are unknown. Her children scattered upon their father's death. Daniel Womelsdorf was a captain in the American Revolution. (1)

CF3. John Weiser (1757 - 1827)

John Weiser (son of Frederick and Anna Amelia (Zeller) Weiser) was born in 1757, on the Weiser property near Womelsdorf, Pa. No record of his baptism has been found, although he was confirmed on Whitsunday, 1774, aged 17. On May 15, 1781, he married Justina Kehl, who was born on July 21, 1762, in Tulpehocken Township. (1)

John Weiser inherited certain land from his father, Frederick, in connection with his brother, Conrad. One piece of 92 acres, half of a portion willed to them jointly, Conrad deeded to John, Jacob Seltzer, and John Keiser on Jan. 26, 1797. By then, however, both Conrad and John had left Berks County, John joining his brother-in-law Daniel Womelsdorf in East Pennsborough Township, Cumberland County. On February 27, 1792, Jacob and Maria Rupley deeded to the two jointly, a tract in the township, touching the Susquehanna River and the Connedoguinnet Creek. The following day they deed two acres of this tract to the Rupleys. The remainder they divided, each possessing 122 acres. John held his share until April 23, 1802, when he sold to Abraham Neidig who had purchased the Womelsdorf part of the tract. (2)

John Weiser served as a private in the American Revolution. There can be no question that service records pertain to him, since he later applied for, and received, a pension on their merit. He enlisted July 8, 1775, at Reading in Captain George Nagle's first rifle regiment, later commanded by Captain David Harris, under Col. Edward Hand, discharged July 8, 1776, at Utrecht,

(1) Records of Christ Lutheran Church, Stouchsburg, Pa. Justina Kehl was the daughter of John Michael Kehl (d. 1794) and Maria Catharine Kraft (March 15, 1736 -), daughter of Andreas and Maria Catharine (Kitzmiller) Kraft. Michael Kehl was a farmer in Tulpehocken and Bern Townships, on a farm held with his brother-in-law Henry Shepler, received from the estate of Andreas Kraft. Andreas Kraft migrated to America on the James Goodwill, Sept. 11, 1728. Michael Kehl was a court-martial man in Captain Kreamer's Company in the American Revolution. See Mr. and Mrs. A. Nello Shaffer and Frederick S. Weiser, Genealogical Data Concerning the Ancestors and Descendants of John Jacob Shaffer (1763 - 1816) . . . (Gettysburg, Pa., 1958) p. 16.

N. Y., and reenlisted October 1, 1776, in Capt. Worthington's Company, 12th Pennsylvania Regiment under Col. Cook. There he served for two years, when ill health forced his discharge, October 1778. (3)

In later years, circumstances moved against John Weiser, so that on August 9, 1824, he appealed to the Court of Common Pleas of Cumberland County to be declared an insolvent debtor, which was accomplished in November 1824. His financial duties unsolved, John applied for a pension for his revolutionary war service, transmitting depositions to Washington in June, 1827. His cause was successful and beginning that month, he received $8 a month. He received $40 annually from the state of Pennsylvania, beginning April 1827. (4)

At the time of his application for pension, he had a wife and six children living who had all established their own homes, save Peter "who is now and has been for the last twelve years in a state of mental derangement and has to be constantly confined in the house." He then had as property only his clothing, three beds, some kitchen furniture and an axe. (5)

John Weiser died shortly thereafter, September 16, 1827, and letters to administer his estate were granted to his wife March 13, 1828. She survived him for many years, and was listed as late as 1840 as receiving his state pension, then living with John Lingle, a grandson in Harrisburg. The date of her death and the place of their burial has not been determined. (6)

(7) Anna Catharine-Henry, Christ Lutheran Church, Stouchsburg; Anna Maria, Friedens Lutheran Church, near Shiremanstown, Pa.; Frederick, Salem Reformed Church, Harrisburg, Pa. Since six children were living in 1827, they were: Anna Catharine, John, Peter, Henry, Frederick, and one other. A tradition states that Sarah, second wife of David Mader (see p. 486) was a daughter of the John Weiser here considered. There is nothing found to authenticate this statement. That Frederick Weiser was living we know from references to him in his father's pension application, but of his eventual whereabouts, nothing has been found.

CF31 Anna Catharine Weiser (daughter of John and Justina (Kehl) Weiser was born July 8, 1783, and baptized July 18, with John and Anna Catharine (Weiser) Kehl serving as her sponsors. Her tombstone erroneously lists her birth as July 23, 1783. She married December 7, 1809, Daniel Mader (or Meader) (son of John and Christiana Mader) (8) (Sept. 16, 1787, Paxton Township, Dauphin Co., Pa. - Aug. 18, 1848, Paxton Township.). CF5. Peter Weiser (|1762| - 1829)

Peter Weiser, son of Frederick and Anna Amelia (Zeller) Weiser, was born February 7, |1762|, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania. There is some question as to the year of his birth, for if his tombstone is read literally, his birth was in 1760, but the birth of his sister Catharine is dated 1760, and since it is known that she was elder than he, it is assumed that he was born in 1762. There is no record of his baptism or confirmation to ascertain these matters. His wife's name was Elizabeth and it is believed that their marriage is that dated August 16, 1787, and that her maiden name was Minchausin, which is probably the feminine of Minchaus. (1)

Peter Weiser lived on a tract of land his father inherited from Conrad Weiser, located in Augusta Township, Northumberland County. The upper portion of this land he conveyed on Sept. 18, 1791, to James Silverwood. An ejectment suit resulting in a deed between the executors of Jacob Fisher's will and Peter transferred other land to them in November 1808. The property was close to Fisher's Ferry, along the Susquehanna River. (2)

Peter Weiser died March 9, 1829. His wife, who was born July 15, 1763, died August 17, 1829. They are buried at Fishers Ferry, overlooking the River. (3)

CF6. Hannah Weiser (1764 -)

Hannah Weiser, daughter of Frederick and Anna Amelia (Zeller) Weiser, was probably born about 1764, near Womelsdorf, although no definite record of her birth or confirmation has come to light to authenticate this. According to the records of Christ Lutheran Church, Stouchsburg, she married George Kehl, November 3, 1782. Likely he is the John George Kehl, son of Michael Kehl, born October 18, 1760. Quite a few children are listed to them in Christ Church records, but of the family after 1805, no trace has been found.

Children of John George and Hannah (Weiser) Kehl:

CF61 Maria Catharine Kehl, December 17, 1783.

CF62 John Jacob Kehl, October 22, 1785.

CF63 Anne Marie Kehl, August 9, 1787.

CF64 John Peter Kehl, May 7, 1789.

CF65 George Kehl, February 20, 1792.

CF66 Sally Kehl, December 17, 1793.

CF67 Eva Elizabeth Kehl, August 5, 1795.

CF68 Elizabeth Kehl, June 26, 1801.

CF69 Jonathan Kehl, May 7, 1805.

CF8. Salome Weiser (1769 -)

Salome Weiser, daughter of Frederick and Anna Amelia (Zeller) Weiser, was born about 1769, judging from her confirmation at age fifteen in 1784 at Christ Lutheran Church, Stouchsburg. She married John Kehl of Tulpehocken Township on December 21, 1790, according to the Schwarzwald Church records. He was a blacksmith in Bethel Township, Berks County, in the late 1790's; after 1799, there is no record of their location. The presence of two of their children in western Pennsylvania suggests they may have imigrated there. Some records cite her name as Sarah.

Children of John and Salome (Weiser) Kehl:

CF81 Catharine Kehl, February 11, 1792.

CF82 Maria Kehl, 1793 or 1794.

CF83 Frederick Kehl, March 17, 1795.

CF84 Jacob Kehl, March 13, 1799. (1)

CF83 Frederick Kehl (son of John and Salome (Weiser) Kehl) was born March 17, 1795, and baptized May 3, 1795, at St. Daniel's Lutheran Church, Robesonia, Pa., with Frederick and Sarah Bechtel serving as sponsors. According to old tradition, in 1824, he migrated to Shippenville, Pa., and in May 1836, removed to Eldred Township, Jefferson County, at a place since called Kahletown. He was a veterinarian. He married Elizabeth Haskell (daughter of George and Eve (Grey) Haskill) (May 3, 1797 - May 21, 1884). He died November 24, 1849. They are buried at Kahletown Methodist Church. They had thirteen children, ten boys (of whom two died young) and three girls.

CR. Peter Weiser (1730 - 1785)

Peter Weiser, son of Conrad and Anna Eva (Feg) Weiser, was born February 27, 1730, at Tulpehocken Township, Berks County, Pa. He married Catharine and evidently resided in Reading until the mid-1770's when he took up residence in Penns Township, Northumberland County, on the tract that was divided between the Weiser heirs there. He returned to Berks County about 1779 and sold his share of one of the tracts in Northumberland. The remainder was sold by the sheriff of Northumberland County in 1785. (1)

The deeds he executed in Berks County identify him as a saddler, but he likely farmed when he was in Northumberland County. On his return to

(1) Conrad Weiser to Peter Weiser, December 12, 1752, lot 34 in Reading, of which Peter and Catharine sold half in February 1754 and the other half July 9, 1774 (A-1-323, B-3-166). On July 31, 1770, they sold lot 38 in Reading which they had purchased in 1753 (9-247). cf. Northumberland County deeds D-281, C338.

Berks, he seems to have resided in Womelsdorf, but there is no definite record of his death other than that there is no document over his name dating from after 1785 and that his wife is identified as a widow in 1787. Of her last days and of their burial, nothing is known. There is no estate record for him in Berks or Northumberland Counties.

CR5 John Melchior Weiser (Feb. 7, 1767, Reading, Pa. - November 9, 1768, Reading, Pa.)

CR6 Mary Catharine Weiser, October 8, 1769. (2)

CR2. John Philip Weiser (1755 -)

John Philip Weiser, son of Peter and Catharine ( ) Weiser, was born September 21, 1755. His wife's name is not recorded, but several children are all listed on the records of Christ Lutheran Church, as baptized June 7, 1787. This is all the record there is of Philip - or for that matter, of his children, except that he is listed in the 1790, 1800, and 1810 census for Heidelberg Township.

Children of John Philip and Weiser:

CR21 Benjamin Weiser, May 18, 1778.

CR22 Peter Weiser, October 3, 1781. (It is possible that he is the Peter Weiser named as a member of the Lewis and Clark expedition, from whom the Weiser River and city of Weiser, Idaho, are named — especially because he would be about the right age for the position.)

CR23 John Jacob Weiser, March 22, 1783.

CR24 Marie Margaret Weiser, June 18, 1786. (3)

CR4. Henry Solomon Weiser (1763 -)

Henry Solomon Weiser, son of Peter and Catharine Weiser, was born in Reading on May 14, 1763. He married Marie Wenger, according to their son's obituary. Aithough he must have been very young, he is very likely the private listed in Pennsylvania Archives in the American Revolution. (4) His name appears on the Heidelberg Township census for 1800 and 1810, but after that there is no record of him.

CR44 Francisca Weiser (June 30, 1790, m. May 1816, Michael Frederick)

CR45 Solomon Weiser, March 4, 1793. (5)

CR41 Peter Weiser (son of Solomon and Marie (Wenger) Weiser) (Jan. 17, 1784, Womelsdorf, Pa. - Sept. 4, 1868, near Womelsdorf, Pa.) m. Apr. 20, 1824, Maria Elizabeth Krunkelman. bu. Christ Lutheran Church. Peter was a shoemaker in Heidelberg Township until 1811, when he appointed Solomon Weiser, very likely his father, as his power-of-attorney. He then moved to Montgomery Township, Franklin Co., where relatives lived for some time, returning to Berks Co., prior to 1820. Solomon sold a tract of land in Heidelberg Township which Peter had owned in June 1811, and another tract of thirty acres was sold the same year by the sheriff of the county. In 1820, when he was back in Heidelberg Township, he sold all of his property, obligations and assets to Philip Weiser and Solomon Weiser (perhaps his father and a cousin; there is no definite way of stating) for $1.00. Family tradition states that it was believed he would never marry, and accordingly the son of his brother Solomon was named for him, traditionally in order to inherit whatever he had; but in 1824 he did marry and left five children when he died at an advanced age some years later.

Children of Peter and Mary Elizabeth (Krunkelman) Weiser:

CR411 Catherine Weiser, June 15, 1824.

CR412 Maria Elizabeth Weiser, September 8, 1825.

CR413 Salome Weiser, December 13, 1831.

CA. Margaret Weiser (1734 - 1777)

Margaret Weiser, daughter of Conrad and Anna Eva (Feck) Weiser, was born on January 28, 1734, near Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania. She married first, in November 1754, the Rev. John Dietrich Mattheus Heintzelmann, who died February 9, 1756. Following his death, she married Anthony Fricker, a Roman Catholic, which accounts for the special provision in Conrad Weiser's will concerning her children and the legal action Henry Melchior Muhlenberg took to gain custody of her son by her first marriage. Anthony Fricker was evidently an innkeeper in Reading, and he died in 1807. Margaret died early in 1777, for under date of February 2, 1777, Henry Melchior Muhlenberg records the fact that news of her death, due to an accidental fall down a flight of stairs, was received.

(3) See Richards, op. cit., p. 83. The birthdate, 1785, for Margaret Fricker, is either incorrect, or Margaret was a daughter of Anthony Fricker's second wife. Since an incorrect date for the death of Margaret (Weiser) Fricker is cited there, the second alternative appears a possibility. Documentary evidence is lacking. Mary Fricker Frantz's descendants are included tentatively, therefore. Data provided by W. G. Murdock.

CS. Samuel Weiser (1735 - 1794)

Samuel Weiser, son of Conrad and Anna Eva (Feck) Weiser, was born April 23, 1735, near Womelsdorf, Pa. He married May 28, 1760, at St. Michael's Lutheran Church in Philadelphia, Judith Levan. (1)

Samuel Weiser was the most intimately associated, of all Conrad Weiser's sons, with his father's relations to the Indians. "Sammy" appears in his father's correspondence as messenger and companion. In 1751, Sammy went to live with the same Mohawks who had taught Conrad his knowledge of their language, and he was his official successor as Indian interpreter for the government. (2)

Sammy also saw service in the French and Indian War. He served as a Captain-Lieutenant, in the Ind. Pa. company, first battalion, from July 3,

(1) Judith Levan was a daughter of Isaac Levan (1700 - 1783) and Mary Margaret , son of Daniel Levan and Marie Beau. He came to America in 1715. Anna Maria Levan, who married Samuel's son Benjamin, was a daughter of Abraham and Esther ( ) Levan. Abraham was a son of Isaac Levan (d. 1800) and Mary Anna Ellmaker, daughter of Leonard Ellmaker of Lancaster County. See the Levan Family History.

1765, and was stationed at Fort Henry. Later he was located at Fort Ligonier under Colonel Bouquet until he wrote his father in April, 1759, of his desire to resign. His resignation became official on May 15, 1759. (3)

Following his service in the various battles of the French and Indian War, Sammy lived in Reading for a time, later moving to his father's land in what was then Northumberland County. In 1770, Muhlenberg recorded that he had baptized sick children of Samuel in Reading. (4) Samuel Weiser died in 1794. His will, probated July 8, of that year, bequeathed his land to his wife and children and mentioned his godson Samuel Weiser, the son of his nephew Peter. His heirs sold his land in October 1800, which likely means that his wife was dead by then. Where they are buried is at present unknown. (5)

Children of Samuel and Judith (Levan) Weiser:

CS2 Maria Margaret Weiser. m. Jacob Feather, Northumberland County. (6)

CS1. Benjamin Weiser (1766 - 1826)

Benjamin Weiser, son of Samuel and Judith (Levan) Weiser, was born 1766 and died 1826, according to dates in H. M. M. Richard's genealogy of the Weiser family, as yet not collaborated from another source. He married Anna Maria Levan, his mother's grand-niece, on June 28, 1798, in Reading, Pa. She was born May 4, 1780, in Reading, and died September 13, 1862, near Aaronsburg, Pa. She is buried at Wolf's Chapel near Aaronsburg, Pa. Where her husband died has not been established.

Children of Benjamin and Anna Maria (Levan) Weiser:

George Frederick Weiser
(1698 - 1764)

George Frederick Weiser, son of John Conrad and Anna Magdalena (Ubelin) Weiser, was born likely in 1798 at Gross Aspach, Wurttemberg, and emigrated with his father to America in 1710. According to his brother Conrad's autobiography he was bound out in 1711, at the age of 13, to someone on Long Island. There he evidently remained, for his will is recorded at Smithtown, dated March 14, 1763, probated June 7, 1764, the year he likely died. His descendants have not been found.

Children of George Frederick and Weiser:

G1 Prudence Weiser, m. Bladesley.

G2 Rebecca Weiser, m. Scudder.

G3 George Weiser. (1)

Christopher Frederick Weiser (1699 - 1768)

Christopher Frederick Weiser, son of John Conrad and Anna Magdalena (Ubelin) Weiser, was born February 24, 1699, at Gross Aspach, in Wurttemberg, and emigrated to America with his father in 1710. In 1721 he married Elizabeth (December 25, 1702, Neuwied, Germany - July 2ª 1760, Heidelberg Township, Berks County, Pa.). He was located in New Jersey at least in 1736, but in 1745 he was granted, as a gift, a farm in Tulpehocken Township by Caspar Wistar, a friend, of Philadelphia. In 1746 Christopher joined the Moravian congregation in Heidelberg Township, Berks County, of which church he remained a member until his death. July 29, 1762, he married Maria Catharine Roeder, widow of Johannes Knauss, born March 24, 1720, in Mutterstadt, near Mannheim, Germany. In 1764 Christopher deeded his property to Jacob Weiser, his son, as he had moved to Emmaus, Pennsylvania, in 1762 where he died June 16, 1768, and is buried. His second wife served as community midwife at Emmaus for many years. He was a storekeeper at Emmaus.

Jacob Weiser, son of Christopher Frederick and Elizabeth ( ) Weiser, was born September 22, 1736, New Jersey, (as stated on his tombstone) and died January 1, 1808, Tulpehocken Township, Pa. He married Anna Elizabeth Kurr (June 5, 1740 - Oct. 1, 1805, Tulpehocken Twp., Pa.). They are buried at Christ's Church. U. S. Revolution, Corporal in Captain Michael Schaffer's Co., 1st Batt., Berks County Militia, and other records. In 1764, he purchased his father's farm, which he sold in 1806 to his son John. In 1790, he purchased the Col. Conrad Weiser farm which he sold in 1795 to his son John, who sold part of it, disposing of the balance in 1822. On the father's tract, in Tulpehocken Township, he erected a large stone house in 1783 which bore this date mark:

"Gott gesegnet dieses Haus
Und were da ein oder aus gehet
17 Jacob Weiser and Elizabeth Weiser 83"
(God bless this house and whoever goes in and out of it)

John Frederick Weiser
(1714 - 1769)

John Frederick Weiser, son of John Conrad and Anna (Miller) Weiser, was born November 14, 1714, at Schoharie, New York. In April 1738, he married Anna Catharine Hummer (born February 26, 1718, died Dec. 8, 1793, Annville, Pa.) In the spring of 1744, he moved to the "Hobe on the Swatara," as his obituary states, and there in 1749 he joined the Hebron Moravian congregation. In 1763 he moved into Lebanon, and he died near there on September 2, 1769, "under a feeling liturgy, very quietly and softly," as his obituary states. He is buried near Lebanon, Pa. He was the father of nine children, of whom four survived him. She married Peter Hetrick, Dec. 12, 1780. (1)

Weiser Families in America Not Descended from John Conrad Weiser the Elder

There were Weisers in America contemporary to the children of John Conrad Weiser the Elder who were not descended from him, and there have been immigrations of Weisers since. Some have been Protestant, some Catholic, and some Jewish in their religious background. A great many leads to these families reached the Association in the process of preparing this history and as a pattern emerged, it became evident that some of this data might benefit someone interested in persons surnamed Weiser who were not in the Conrad Weiser lineage. In abbreviated form, some of this material follows.

1. David Weiser (d. 1786) of Oley Township, Berks County, Penna.

One of these families dwelt in the northeastern and eastern townships of Berks County. There were descendants of David Weiser who came to America on the Loyal Judith, arriving at Philadelphia, September 3, 1739. David was a brother of Peter Weiser of Oley, Philadelphia County, whose will is dated November 24, 1738. He mentioned his parents, Henry and Sybylla, of the Bishopric of Worms, sister Anne Marie and brother David. David Weiser married Catharine, widow of Henry Thomas and left a numerous progeny, many of whom are in Berks County. He died in 1786.

Considerable additional data on families that are likley related to the above are in the Association files. Compare Mary Owen Steinmetz, "The Weiser Family of Oley Township." Berks County Historical Review, V (1940), 124.

One of these is the family of Jonathan and Magdalene Diener (b. Oct. 9, 1787) Weiser:

1. David Weiser, m. Schanely, lived near Boyertown.

2. Lewis Weiser, m. Catharine Herb, lived at Boyertown.

3. William Weiser (Aug. 13, 1822 - Feb. 22, 1902), m. Sarah Gehris.

4. Benjamin Weiser, unm.

5. Lea Weiser.

6. Maria Weiser.

7. Julianna Weiser.

(See George S. Diener, Descendants of Henry (Heinrich) Gerhardt Diener Born 1720 Died 1772 (Stony Creek Mills, Pa., 1930.) Another family with roots in this vicinity, exact lineage in question, is that of George Weiser (sometime Wieser) (July 4, 1783 - July 20, 1856, Hamilton, Ohio; death record says son of Jacob and Catharine Weiser), m. Elizabeth (Jan. 15, 1783 - Oct. 4, 1858), had:

1. Samuel Weiser, Oct. 18, 1806.

2. Nathan Weiser.

3. Hattie Weiser, m. Seels.

4. Ann Weiser, m. Kohlfrat.

5. Isaac Weiser (Feb. 28, 1814 - May 19, 1891), m. Rosina Kistner.

6. Elizabeth Weiser, Aug. 22, 1816.

2. Adam Weiser (d. 1797) of Dublin, Pulaski Co., Virginia

Adam Weiser arrived at Philadelphia on the Neptune on Sept. 23, 1751. He seems to have settled in Pennsylvania for a time (judging an item in Box 5a of the Society Collection, Surveys, Historical Society of Pennsylvania). He settled in Frederick County, Virginia, as early as 1772 (when he sued one of his debtors for collection). but, later settled near Dublin, Montgomery (now Pulaski) County, Virginia. His will (Montgomery County wills 1-204) names his wife as Elizabeth. He had several children also named. The surname seeme to have been spelled Wiser for a time and eventually Wysor. He is buried with members of his family in the old Wysor cemetery, near Dublin. His children were:

1. Henry Wysor (Apr. 15, 1755, See below)
2. George Weiser (perhaps the George who m. Mar. 28, 1786, Mary Lauckliter at Frederick Co., Va. George died 1820).
3. Elizabeth Weiser, m. Trinkle.
4. Chrisleener Weiser, m. Anderson.
5. Peggy Weiser, m. Dec. 24, 1787, James Cecil.
6. Caty Weiser, m. Jan. 26, 1792, George Peck.
7. Mary Weiser, m. 1791, Elias Shufflebarger.
8. Eve Weiser, m. Jan. 5, 1796, Jacob Peck.

Henry Wysor (Apr. 15, 1755 - Jan. 12, 1844) m. Apr. 21, 1777, Barbara Ann Ripseed (Feb. 14, 1754 - May 10, 1837). He served in the American Revolution as a sergeant. Children:

1. George W. Wysor (Aug. 10, 1779 - May 1803)
2. Mary Wysor (July 22, 1781) m. Peter Dills.
3. Elizabeth Weiser, m. Trinkle
4. Henry Wysor, Jr. (Aug. 7, 1786 - July 20, 1859) m. June 6, 1811, Cynthia Charlton (Nov. 3, 1787 - Jan. 14, 1866)
5. John Wysor (Feb. 11, 1788 - July 1793)
6. Catherine Wysor (Oct. 9, 1790) m. Oct. 17, 1811, James Reybern.
7. Mary Weiser, m. 1791, Elias Shufflebarger. Miller.
8. William Wysor (June 16, 1797)
9. James Wysor (June 18, 1801 - Apr. 9, 1869)

Henry Wysor, Jr. (1786 - 1859) was a captain in the War of 1812. The story of the family of his son Benjamin Franklin Wysor (1813 - 1864) has been told by Frank J. Klingberg, Old Sherry, Portrait of a Virginia Family (Richmond, Virginia, 1938); see also Wysor-Templeton Chronology (Chart), published by J. M. Wysor, Berwind, Va., 1938. Much of this data provided by Mrs. Frank J. Klingberg

3. Christian Weiser of Cumberland County, Pa.

Of the early background of Christian Weiser nothing is known. A baptismal certificate located him in 1781 in Berlin Township, Cumberland County, Pa. In 1808, guardians were appointed in Franklin County, Pa., for children of a Christian Wiser (Orphans Court Docket A-241). Jacob Wiser was appointed for Susannah and Samuel Weiser; Philip Laufman for Sally. All were older than fourteen years of age. According to the baptismal certificate above cited, his wife's name was Susannah. The descendants seem to have moved to Erie County, New York. Evidently a number of Wiser families originating in Western New York stem from this one. Children:

1. Jacob Weiser, Oct. 13, 1781, had: Henry Phillip Wiser (Feb. 2, 1820 - June 26, 1884, m. Elizabeth Ely, had 16 children); Samuel Wiser Aug. 16, 1821 - May 16, 1891, m. Carolina ; had several children); Solomon Weiser (went to Michigan).
2. Samuel Wiser.
3. Susannah Wiser.
4. Sally Wiser.

4. William Weiser of Cumberland County, Pa., and of Northern Ohio

William Weiser (Aug.. 6, 1784 - Apr. 14, 1849) married July 6, 1807, Barbara Creutzer (July 30, 1784 - July 1844). They lived in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, for some years, near Harrisburg, and then appear in Northern Ohio, where a large number of descendants are found. Children:

1. Jacob Weiser (Nov. 28, 1807)
2. Adam Weiser (Sept. 24, 1811 (1812) - Mar. 24, 1896) m. Nov. 30, 1836, Susan Bender (July 16, 1819 - July 4, 1889) bu. Shelby, Ohio. Had:
   a. Sarah Jane Weiser, Nov. 11, 1837.
   b. Susan Weiser, July 16, 1840, m. St. John.
   c. Barbara Weiser (May 14, 1842 - Oct. 16, 1928) m. Mar. 11, 1862, David Dick (May 28, 1836 - Apr. 2, 1921) bu. Arcadia, Ohio.
   d. John Weiser (Apr. 14, 1844)
   e. Harriet Weiser (1847)
   f. Infant son (1847)
   g. Infant daughter (Jan. 30, 1850)
   h. Jacob Bender Weiser (Dec. 14, 1850)
   i. Adam H. Weiser (June 11, 1852 - May 4, 1938) m. Oct. 22, 1874, Barbara E. Lyburger (Sept. 18, 1851 - Apr. 30, 1910) bu. Shelby, Ohio.
   j. William Franklin Weiser (May 30, 1855 - Oct. 18, 1942) m. Mary Kathryn Sherman (1851 - 1923). bu. Fostoria, Ohio.
   k. Alice E. Weiser (Aug. 9, 1857 - Dec. 3, 1920) m. Sherman.
   l. Mary Weiser (Nov. 31, 1860) m. George Sutter.
3. William Weiser (May 2, 1813)

4. Polly Weiser, m. Keller.

5. Eliza Weiser, m. Fesler.

This data was provided by Mrs. Larry Horn and Mr. John Adam Dick.

5. Martin Weiser of Allentown, Pa.

Martin Weiser of Allentown, Pa., married Mrs. Mary Ann Shepherd, nee Stout. He served in the War of 1812. His son Nelson (b. Aug. 6, 1823) m. Apr. 26, 1851, Elmira Mussey. He was a prominent publisher in Allentown. Children:

1. Annie E. Weiser, m. Leisenring.

2. Mary Catharine Weiser (Apr. 20, 1876 - Nov. 14, 1947)

3. Sarah Weiser.

4. Charles W. Weiser, m. Sarah A. Kistler. They had: Charles K., Helen R., and Nelson A.

6. Foster Weiser of Delaware, Ohio.

Foster Weiser (Oct. 10, 1815 - Oct. 22, 1852) married Eleanor (Jan. 21, 1820 - June 13, 1894). They lived in or near Delaware, Ohio, where there are descendants remaining. Children:

1. John Weiser (Mar. 31, 1840 - Oct. 3, 1865). Civil War.

2. Philip Weiser (June 30, 1845 - Aug. 29, 1899) m. Mary J. Culp (Nov. 24, 1845 - Feb. 1893). Had Sherman, Eleanor, Hartley, John, Nina Groll, Mina Beebe, Foster, Everett, Sollie, Eva Hoke, Grace Fivecoats, Agnes, Mollie.

3. Henry Weiser.

4. Margaret Weiser, m. Smith, Marion, Ohio.
